

Get Your Books Here!

Read Across America relies on more than 50 national partners to help deliver the joy of reading to millions of students from coast to coast. Use the resources below to receive the books featured in this calendar and additional resources for your school library and/or classroom.

Reading Is Fundamental

Reading Is Fundamental, the nation's leading champion for children's literacy for more than 50 years, offers recommendations for additional diverse titles along with thousands of activities, games, reading passages, lesson plans, calendars, and videos for diverse, classic, and popular K-6 books on its Literacy Central.

NEA Foundation

The NEA Foundation offers a "Special Edition Collection" featuring books written by diverse authors and available at reduced prices on the First Book Marketplace. Each book includes a Diversity and Inclusion Reading Guide to assist educators in surfacing the social and emotional learning elements of the books. ## First Book Marketplace

Visit the NEA page on the First Book Marketplace (<https://www.fbmarketplace.org/read-across-america>) to find dozens of diverse, high quality titles that will help your kids see themselves and their experiences in the books they read.

First Book is transforming the lives of children in need and elevating the quality of education by making new, high-quality books and educational resources available on an ongoing basis. Eligible educators, librarians, program leaders, and others serving children in need can sign up at firstbook.org/register.
